Conference Acts on Differences Between Assembly and Senate.

BULLETIN

Madison—Wisconsin is assured of a new prohibition enforcement statute prohibiting home brew and drastic in its provisions, unless Governor Blaine again exercises his veto, as a result of Assembly action today in passing the governor's bill 68 to 14.

There was no debate in the lower house when the measure was passed in a hurry, after the report of conference committee of both houses had been read. Dry leaders said that they had a bill almost as dry as they could wish.

Following the agreement of the conference committee against home brew last night administration members are reported to have met with the governor. He is said to have agreed at night to sign the measure in its present form, with home brew done away with, despite his previous strong stand in vetoing the measure.

Madison—The legislature is concerned the dry bill is finished with the passage of the amended measure agreed upon by the conference committee of the two houses. The measure is a drastic bill and far from being the one sought by the governor. Taking him at his word the following day the legislature passed the bill in the very language of the Volstead law used in the new bill, in reference to home brew. The attempt to evade the clause making the manufacture and sale of any kind of intoxicating liquor in the home was abandoned.

With unanimous vote the committee agreed to the changes. If Mr. Blaine signs it he will be placing his signature to a bill containing about the same things to which he so objected when he vetoed the Matheon bill.

Home brewing is made illegal under provision of the agreement which the governor accepted. The measure is a drastic bill and far from being the one sought by the governor. Taking him at his word the following day the legislature passed the bill in the very language of the Volstead law used in the new bill, in reference to home brew. The attempt to evade the clause making the manufacture and sale of any kind of intoxicating liquor in the home was abandoned.

Thought Governor Would Sign
Administration senators on the committee said they thought the governor would sign the bill as amended by the agreement. This will give Wisconsin a stringent new enforcement measure.

The moonshine section of the governor's bill, particularly stressed by him in his messages to the legislature is further strengthened by the committee to include, beside the still, mash or moonshine, an prima facie evidence of illicit manufacture.

Search of Private Dwellings
Further amendment to be put before the two houses for acceptance, exempting apartments of the prohibition commissioner from civil service, while another will make search of private dwellings illegal unless the dwelling becomes a nuisance.

How You Can Rent
Room

A young man made this statement to the Gazette today: "I am looking for a room. I have answered nine out of ten Room For Rent ads for the last two weeks. But cannot afford to pay the prices that the people are asking for their rooms. My income is less than last year, and I believe the average fellow is in a position similar to mine. I can't afford a room at even $5 per week."

In last night's Gazette there was not a single room advertisement for RENT. You can rent your room if you will advertise it and give the least amount you will accept as rental. There are a number of people looking for rooms and every day of vacancy is a loss of income. Phone Classified Dept 77 either phone.

Dr. Brady Says:

Carpentier Chances Good; Dempsey Poor Breather

THIRD ARTICLE.
In order to approach within speaking distance of Carpentier up at Manassas it is necessary to produce unassailable credentials and secure an introduction by some authorized person connected with his camp. Down in Atlantic City all you need is a card of introduction in a genuine dollar bill. Jack rambles about the place shaking hands with any one who cares to talk with him, and behaving very much like a small boy at recess time. That is, at recess time. When he works he works in a determined manner.

Fighters Well Matched.
If Carpentier's physique and movements suggest the tiger, Dempsey is a lion. In the resting state, before beginning exercise, Jack's hands feel cool to the touch, where Georges' feel warm; after an hour's exercise and a rubdown, Jack's hands feel warm to the touch, and Georges' cool. All I make of this is a difference in temperament, Jack being the more phlegmatic, Georges the more sanguine. The Atlantic City lion has a bigger, thicker heavier, and perhaps a slightly more muscular chest and neck than the Manassas tiger. He has a great-breasted capacity, but it is questionable whether he has better vital capacity or good wind. In fact, an athlete's wind or ability to keep his struggling muscles supplied with sufficient oxygen depends more upon his heart muscle than upon his lungs. As I have already said, while the American champion is the more powerful lungs, the European champion's heart muscle is the better developed and more efficient. Even at that, it does not necessarily follow that Carpentier's circulation is better adapted for the contest of July 2 than Dempsey's, for another, and even more vital factor enters here, namely, the comparative ductless gland efficiency of the two champions. The winner of this battle is more than likely to be the man whose adrenal glands function.

Bing! Bump! Cashier Hands Knockout to Young Bandit

(By Associated Press)

Green Valley, Wis.—His demand for $50 from Claude S. Gallagher, cashier of the bank here, proved the Waterloo for John Cronburg, 18, who says his home is in New Holstein.

Cronburg walked into the bank and demanded the money from the cashier. Gallagher, the cashier, walked to where the would-be bandit was standing, hit him, knocking him down and taking away his gun. He was then arrested and taken to Shawano, the county seat, and lodged in the county jail.

Cronburg said he had quarreled with his father on the farm where he lives and had left home to make his way in the world. Being hungry and without funds, he decided to get the money at the bank. He said he found the revolver. The district attorney of Shawano county has communicated with his father.

Bulk of Wisconsin Laws Stands, Despite Radicals, as Legislature Adjourns

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison—The record has been made and the active life of the legislature of the state of Wisconsin came to an end this morning when the Friday session closed.

There has not been a great volume of laws. Bill after bill has been killed. In spite of the activity of the revolutionary elements, the bulk of the laws of the state, with one or two exceptions, stand unshaken. In the closing hours the marketing bill, fraught with all sorts of danger and promise of that in a latent paternalism that comes close to being socialistic, has gone through.

Most important measures which have gone through both houses and received the approval of Governor Blaine follow:

Agriculture.
24-A. Olson, changing dog tax to $2 and $1.
25-A. Dettinger, prohibiting the taking of blueberries.
26-A. Larson, revising standards for ice cream manufacture.

HEARST TRAITOR TO AMERICA'S CAUSE, GOMPERS CHARGES

ENEMY OF LABOR AND OF IRELAND, ASSERTS VET-ERAN LEADER.

DELEGATES CHEER
Election of Officers Last on Program; May Not Come
Till Sunday.

Denver.—William Randolph Hearst was denounced on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor, Thursday, by President Samuel Gompers, as a "traitor to the cause of America, to the cause of freedom, an enemy of labor and of Ireland."

This statement, together with other derogatory remarks regarding Hearst made by President Gompers in reply to a question from the floor as to his stand on the Irish question, was cheered by the delegates.

The veteran labor leader declared Hearst had attacked him because he had declined to be "chained to his mad chariot for the presidency of the United States" and because he (Gompers) had tried to "see to it that Mexico shall go undisturbed and not overrun by American forces."

Answers. Altkok.
Defining his stand on the Irish question, President Gompers declared of sympathy and aid to the Irish republic.

"The only real charge against me is, and I plead guilty to it, that I am not a free Irishman," he said.

Referring to his former reply to alleged attacks made by Hearst upon him and upon his associates, who were not of foreign birth, Mr. Gompers said:

"When he questioned our loyalty on the right to speak for American labor because he said we were not born here, I answered him by saying that the government of the United States shall decide between you and me as to who was more loyal to the United States in its greatest hour of danger."

Many times during his address President Gompers was compelled to pause until the wild demonstrations of the delegates had subsided. He was cheered repeatedly.

Oppose 6-hour Day.
The convention Friday unanimously rejected a proposal by the Central Labor Union, New York, for a nationwide campaign to establish a maximum six-hour day and abolish all overtime in industry.

The announcement by John L. Lewis of the state of Missouri, for a national strike for the presidency of the federation, brought a statement from President Gompers who declared "it is not the right or the privilege of any individual to make a platform in the labor movement."

"I am well enough known to the wage earners," said Mr. Gompers, "as having been faithful in the cause for the protection of their rights, to make it impossible to announce a declaration of the principles on which I stand."

The convention Friday called on President Harding to investigate the strike riots at the Standard Steel Car company, Hammond, Ind., in September, 1910, and fix responsibility for the "issuing of guns" and the death of four steel car workers.

The convention voted to make the election of officers a special order of business for 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

LEGISLATURE IN TURMOIL AS ROAD TAX BILL FALLS

ASSEMBLY UNEXPECTED-
LY KILLS HIRSH MEAS-
URE BY 45-33 VOTE.

SEE NEW SESSION

Long Speech by Dahl Swings
Many Members Against Engineers' Plans.

Madison.—The legislative program was thrown into turmoil Friday when the assembly, in what it was agreed would be the closing hours of the session, reconsidered its vote on the Hirsch highway privilege tax bill, then killed the measure which would raise $4,000,000 annually by a 45-33 vote.

This stand makes either a continued or a special session inevitable, with funds with which to carry on its highway program. It is rumored with authenticity that the governor may now veto some of the large appropriation bills, on the ground that the revenue of the state will not be sufficient to meet the bills which the legislature has authorized.

Action Is Surprised.
The assembly action was totally unexpected, since the Hirsch bill had gone to third reading by a two to one vote early in the week. It had been practically agreed that it would be rushed through to the governor today.

Assemblyman Dahl, author of various sur-tax proposals, took the floor against the measure, when it came up for reconsideration. In a speech lasting nearly an hour, he flayed the proposal from every angle, declaring it opened the way to an over-comprehensive highway program when the state was not prepared for it.

His speech swung many members who had previously stood by the finance committee in its recommendation of the measure.

He reported that "no additional taxes would be necessary for the coming biennium. No one defended the bill on the floor Friday, because of their belief that defeat of reconsideration was certain."

Funds are available for highway construction for the present year, but it will be necessary for the state to devise means of raising money to meet the federal aid of 1922-23, which will total $2,600,000.

The senate killed the rent regulation bill Friday, 15 to 10. It had passed the assembly 5 to 3. The measure extended the former Milwaukee law, declared unconstitutional, to all parts of the state.

FIND STOLEN CAR NEAR FOOTVILLE

Machine Stolen From Alderman Jensen's Company Is Recovered.

Stolen from the circus grounds here Tuesday night, the 1917 Ford touring car owned by the Janesville Sand & Gravel company, was recovered just outside the village of Footville, in the west of Janesville, Thursday night, apparently had been abandoned there by someone who used it for transportation home.

The car was recovered by Arthur E. Jones, proprietor of a meat market in Footville, who reported the car to the local police department. There were no clues as to the identity of the man or men who took the car from its parking place at the showgrounds during the night performance of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

Nothing further has been heard regarding the 1921 Ford coupe stolen from the same place here last night. Police are getting scores of post cards weekly from cities in all parts of the middle west listing stolen cars. Many are of the higher priced type of machines.

Socialists Planning National Convention

Detroit.—The executive committee of the socialist party met here Friday to complete plans for the party's national convention, which opens Saturday.

Otto Bronshteyn, national secretary, Morris Hillquit, New York, James O'Connell and others, leaders of the conservative faction, predict they will outnumber the communist left wing by at least five to one on the convention floor.

The left wing faction will make their fight on affiliation with the third international of Moscow without reservations on the terms laid down by the Russian soviets.

Extreme right is opposed to any international affiliations, and in between are groups supporting modified union with the bolshevik and negotiations with the Vienna congress of socialist parties.

"NO FAVORITES" IS SLOGAN OF NEWLY APPOINTED CHIEF

TREAT THEM ALL ALIKE,
MOTTO OF CHARLES
NEWMAN.

SEES JOB AHEAD

Recognizes Importance of Job
He Is Scheduled to Take.

A current of dissatisfaction is evident here following announcement that the fire and police commission is asking Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey to retire July 15 in favor of Charles Newman, former marshal of Broadhead. Indications point to a strong protest.

The city appears to be divided in its factions over the announcement. Some favor Newman, others are against putting on a new man, while there are more who say if a new man is to be hired let it be a Janesville man or someone from a larger city with more experience.

The matter is entirely up to the police and fire commission. Chief Morrissey has not yet presented any resignation.

Newman—Who Is the New Chief?

Charles ("Deck") Newman, newly chosen chief of the Janesville police department, by the police and fire commission to take charge here July 15, will have as his slogan, "No favorites."

He was most emphatic upon this point when asked a program correspondent called upon him, while at work in the general store at Broadhead, Thursday evening.

"I am not going to make the mistake of appointing a program to the department," he stated. "I will say though that I will have no favorites of any kind. They will all look alike to me. All that I ask is that the people of Janesville get behind me."

"I tried hard to get out of it, but the commission would not let me. They called me on the telephone and three different times and insisted that I go down Janesville and talk the matter over. It looks now like a pretty good thing and I am going into it determined to do the best I can. I understand that I shall be given every chance to do so."

Shows Strong Character.
There was a certain quality in his tone that gave the interviewer a feeling of what Newman says a thing he means it. Found in the back room of the cooperative store, he was reading a Chicago newspaper.

Many Workers in Tobacco Protest Minimum Wage

Enforcement of the minimum wage scale by the state industrial commission in connection with the handling of tobacco is looked upon with alarm by many persons in the tobacco industry in Rock county and other counties of Southern Wisconsin.

It is claimed that it is working hardships both on packers and the tobacco industry. This is true in the stemming industry. Stemming is work which can be done by older persons who help support themselves and others depending on their power of earning. Many of these workers are handicapped enough to reach the minimum of the wage scale as it is being enforced by the state commission, even on the present basis.

Their chances are even smaller if the minimum wage scale is increased. Tobacco people feel there is a grave possibility that the stemming industry will be driven out of the stage if the minimum wage scale is increased and will be located where the work can be done under less strict rules. This would be a loss to many wage earners, especially in the smaller cities who can earn something towards their support if they are permitted to work in the stemming warehouses during the summer but who are unable to take labor requiring greater call on the strength.

New 21-Story Church in Chicago to be Center of Activity for Protestants

Chicago—The largest building housing the Methodist denomination, if not the largest Protestant building in the world, will be in process of construction here within a year.

It will be the new First Methodist Episcopal church, to be situated in the very center of this city's business district, at Clark and Washington streets.

While at first it will house all of the Methodist organizations in this vicinity, similar organizations of other denominations are also planning to use the space, so that, in a few years, it is probable this great building may become the greatest Protestant headquarters in America, if not in the world.

The building will cost $3,500,000 and will be situated on a good ground valued at $2,500,000. It will have a width of 89 feet, a depth of 152 feet and its power will rise 110 feet from street level.

One of its striking identification marks will be a huge revolving cross at the top of the tower. Its architectural features will be the statement that the cross will be the largest revolving illuminated cross in the world.

The architect plans have been accepted and the negotiations looking toward the erection of this building have been proceeding for months. As now planned, the building is to be 21 stories in height, 152 feet in depth on Clark street and 80 feet front on Washington street. The building will be of Gothic architecture, with a tower of Gothic design. Though a great city skyscraper, it will be churchly in appearance and presents the aspect of a great cathedral.

This church, popularly known as "Clark Street," was organized in 1854, being the first Methodist church and probably the first Protestant church of any denomination in Chicago.

According to the church authorities, a gathering place for all religious gatherings of the city. Rooms for all sorts of social and religious purposes will be provided. An outstanding feature will be the Forum, in which the great public and social questions of the day will be freely discussed in a Christian, sympathetic atmosphere.

In addition to this, the office part of the building will become headquarters of all of the great Methodist organizations of Chicago.

According to the church authorities, the actual work of construction will begin about May 1, 1922.

Matrimonial Dickers of Gypsies Bring to Light Much Trickery and Clashes With Law of Land

Minneapolis.—Although it is the custom among gypsies to have the prospective bridegroom purchase a wife for their son, covetous wealthy candidates are not always successful even when bidding larger sums for the maiden's hand.

Such was the information gleaned by John D. Greathouse, a local attorney, who acted as counsel for a Chicago gypsy, mother and her daughter, when they came here in an attempt to take back their daughter whom they charged was kidnapped, while the mother of the groom-elect maintained she had paid $2,000 for the girl as a wife for her son.

"I have learned when the mother of a girl among the gypsies takes a liking to a young man and considers him suitable for her daughter, a nominal price will always get the bride-to-be, even though there are other offers much higher," declared Mr. Greathouse.

The attorney said that under the traditional customs of the gypsies, the younger generation has no voice in determining their mates, and the matching is a matter for the parents only.

"Generally, the mother of a young man, usually around his 15th year, picks out a girl, dickens for her parents and buys her outright, when they marry her," he said. "Then they are married according to gypsy law, after which the groom's parents, in almost every case, start him in business of some kind to make a livelihood."

In recent years, certain gypsy parents, after obtaining money for their daughters, have invoked the American law and had the daughters detained in their own homes, according to Mr. Greathouse. In most cases, however, when the young suitors are thus outwitted, his parents seek their money returned by going before a gypsy tribunal, before which a trial is held, he said. A few of these cunning gypsies, however, fail to adhere to their native law, and the gypsy court's decisions, and with the aid of the American statutes, defraud parents of the suitors, he added. For such an act, however, the gypsies are disowned by their people, the attorney said.

Mr. Greathouse said a settlement had been effected in the case with which he was connected, by having the money returned to the young man's parents and the girl returned with her parents to Chicago.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT CASE IS PRESENTED

Commissioner Says Cullen's Accident One of Quickest on Record.

Testimony in one of the most unusual accident cases in the history of the state industrial commission was taken at the city hall here Friday when Archie Cullen, Sr., father of the superintendent of the county asylum and home for the poor, took the stand.

Mr. Cullen told of his accident on September 18, last year, when a prong from a manure spreader punctured his eye, and the manure and went into his mouth. His eye was saved, but his face is slightly disfigured and the face does not function.

"We have all kinds of accidents coming before us," said Fred M. Wilcox, of the commission. "This is probably the queerest one I've ever heard of."

In Asylum Engineer. It was brought out that Mr. Cullen is employed, and was at the time, as engineer at the county asylum, and that the county paid him full salary while he was recuperating. He is now drawing $70 a month and board, he said. Dr. Gerald K. Woolf presented X-ray pictures showing the injury.

Testimony was taken in other cases coming under the workmen's compensation act. James Cullen, Milton Jett, seeks compensation for loss of time when he injured an index finger at the Samson tractor plant. James Murray seeks money from James H. Cullen, for injuries to his shoulder, suffered when he fell 10 feet at the Black Hawk apartment here last December.

Korman King alleges he suffered hernia while working at the Janesville Fence & Post company while a similar claim is made by Fred Reiske, Jr., against the Samson company. Emil Sauge seeks money for burns about his eyes suffered while working at the Samson.

Milwaukee to Build 1,000 Medium Priced Homes

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Milwaukee.—Plans to build 1,000 medium priced homes in Milwaukee within 18 months, to help solve the housing and high rent problems, were outlined at a meeting of 100 businessmen at the Association of Commerce by Galbraith Miller, Jr., Friday, and assurances were given that actual work will begin on the first unit of 15 homes by August 1.

The city and county of Milwaukee have subscribed $50,000 each toward a $250,000 preferred stock proposition, which has the approval of Milwaukee bankers, for carrying out the plan. The plan as outlined will provide homes at a cost within the comfortable means of families whose incomes average from $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

Severely the occupants of these homes by insurance, so in case of death or total disability of the head of the family all further payments on principal will be taken care of. Arrange so that if the occupant of the home finds it advantageous to move, he will not lose the payment he has made on the principal.

A New Thought About The Year in which Your Children Were Born

A certain woman we know built up a good sized bank balance by depositing in her Savings Account all the coins she got which were minted in the years in which her children were born.

One child finished high school this year. There is plenty of money in the bank for her college education, and by the time the boy is ready, his higher training will be a certainty, too. Her idea is worth your trial.

Negroes Hang for Shooting

Chicago.—Grover C. Redding and Oscar McGee, negroes, were hanged together at 7:17 a. m. Friday for the killing of R. C. Ross, a sailor, in connection with the "Abyssinian riots" last June. Both appeared cool when they walked on the scaffold. Both slept during the night and Redding ate a hearty breakfast.

The so-called "Abyssinian riot" occurred June 20, 1920, when a band of negroes, led by Redding and others, burning themselves "Princes of Abyssinia" and connected with a movement for the return of negroes to Africa, staged a parade.

The parade concluded with a bonfire, during which an American flag was burned. Ross was shot to death and, in promiscuous firing which followed, Joseph Roy was killed and two others wounded.

Practical Saving

When you start to save money, adopt a practical plan. Do not attempt to save so large a sum each week or month that you will be unable to continue. Decide upon an amount which you can, by economizing, lay aside from your earnings regularly, then save persistently along these lines.

'THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE'

By Marion Rubincam

STORY OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS
Ruth O'Neil and Mary Wed, clung since childhood, decide to go to the city together when they have finished school. Mary, a little man she had always loved so, Duncan O'Neil, made only a tiny heap under the bedclothes; his body, small enough always, seemed to have shrunk so much in the last few months.

She wasn't sure whether he breathed. Her own heart was thumping hard and her hands were trembling. Her eyes stung with tears. She looked up at the doctor.

"Is he—?" She managed only the two words.
She meant, "Is he dead?" The doctor shook his head. "Yes," he said softly.

But he had thought the girl meant, "Is he alive?" There was still breath in the little body, and still hope in the doctor's heart. But the girl did not know this. She thought her father was dead.

And he looked so. He seemed to have sunk, in some curious way. His eyes, always so extraordinarily large and deep set, had almost dropped back into the sockets, the rounded part under the closed lids stood out in an almost uncanny fashion. The cheeks were hollow, the neck had strange cords with deep furrows between them.

Ruth knelt for a long time, not even thinking, only looking at the little figure, and sometimes contracting her throat where a great swelling lump was choking her.

Dr. Lane spoke again:
"I can get Miss Martin, she's the best trained nurse in town. She knows what to do. I can't do any more."

Then just before they reached the house he said:
"He looked fairly well the other night. It's probably only some little excitement that has brought on a heart attack. He's had them before."

Ruth caught the hopeful note, but she shook her head.
"He's had them and recovered. But you know how scumby a man is about these things. If it wasn't bad, she wouldn't have moved."

She did not remember for several days whether Langley came into the house or not. Her mother met her at the top of the stairs, a portly figure of tragedy.

"You've come in time, Ruth," she said solemnly and led her way down the hall to Duncan O'Neil's bedroom. Ruth entered the room trembling. Her father was lying in bed, his eyes closed, so still that Ruth thought he was dead. Dr. Lane was sitting near thing more than I have, except hope, of course."

Ruth stirred and stood up suddenly.
"Do you mean he isn't—?"
"No, he's not dead. He'll be conscious again, I think. Of course it's the beginning of the end. I'm afraid he won't be able to get up again."

Ruth gave a sudden little sound, like a shuddering sigh.
"I thought you meant he was dead."

"My dear, my dear, I'm so sorry. I didn't understand. But you must know the truth now. I don't know how long it will be—"

Ruth did not hear any more. At least he was spared for the time. The

CHAPTER LXVII.
OUTWARD BOUND
"It was Langley's words," "Steady, Ruth, steady," that kept the girl up. The quiet tone, the note of command in it, gave her just the strength she needed to get her over the one moment of shock.

She reached the machine, Langley behind her. And they turned and started back over the rough roads. She remembered afterwards that her little once hunched wife, the front of her and that she dropped off while the car was still running when they reached the center of the town. Langley was behind with her, but he said nothing.

Then just before they reached the house he said:
"He looked fairly well the other night. It's probably only some little excitement that has brought on a heart attack. He's had them before."

"Do you mean he isn't—?"
"No, he's not dead. He'll be conscious again, I think. Of course it's the beginning of the end. I'm afraid he won't be able to get up again."

Ruth gave a sudden little sound, like a shuddering sigh.
"I thought you meant he was dead."

"My dear, my dear, I'm so sorry. I didn't understand. But you must know the truth now. I don't know how long it will be—"

Ruth did not hear any more. At least he was spared for the time. The

OUTWARD BOUND
"It was Langley's words," "Steady, Ruth, steady," that kept the girl up. The quiet tone, the note of command in it, gave her just the strength she needed to get her over the one moment of shock.

She reached the machine, Langley behind her. And they turned and started back over the rough roads. She remembered afterwards that her little once hunched wife, the front of her and that she dropped off while the car was still running when they reached the center of the town. Langley was behind with her, but he said nothing.

Then just before they reached the house he said:
"He looked fairly well the other night. It's probably only some little excitement that has brought on a heart attack. He's had them before."

Ruth caught the hopeful note, but she shook her head.
"He's had them and recovered. But you know how scumby a man is about these things. If it wasn't bad, she wouldn't have moved."

BREEDERS SEE NEED OF JOINING HANDS

Concentration on One Type in Each Section Growing in Favor.

BY LEWIS C. FRENCH

In the selection of dairy cattle suited for particular localities, the modern farmer is giving close consideration to two sources of income. One part of that income is represented by the sale of products, either milk or butter fat, and the other the sale of surplus stock. Often the latter source of income is a considerable sum, even though the herd is composed of grade animals.

Rock county is rapidly developing her dairy herds. There is still a way field to improvement. The farmers keenly realize that scrub and poor producing cows are not profitable, especially with milk prices low.

Too Many Scrub Herds

The paramount idea before the breeders is to unite in a district, co-operate to promote better animals with a co-operative system of marketing the surplus stock through breeders' associations.

Rock county has too many scrub herds. Likewise the county has fine Holstein, good Guernsey and probably the best of any county in Wisconsin. There are also a few exceptional herds of Brown Swiss.

The point now being advocated is to unite breeders for further development. Improvement of animals to make the county stand out as the leading dairy county in Wisconsin, the greatest dairy state in the world.

Differ as to Best Breed

There is a decided difference of opinion as to the best breed of cattle to raise. It is felt natural that the owner of a certain breed will be convinced that breed is best suited for the county.

However, if a certain group of townships should purchase a thoroughbred bull and then work together to develop one certain breed, advertise that breed and get on the market as producers of that type—that combination of counties would be away ahead of the marketing game.

It will all go to the one purpose, making Rock county stand out as the leading dairy county in Wisconsin, the greatest dairy state in the world.

Sale of Milk

Most of the milk in the cities and towns is subject to certain regulations as to quality, among which are the standards for butter fat and milk solids. For much milk, payment is based on quantity or weight, without special reference to any but the content above legal standard.

In Southern Wisconsin most cheese factories, condenseries pay for rich milk, that with good butter fat content, cream. They buy on the butter-fat basis.

Consumers prefer milk of a deep, rich color, which is usually considered to be an indication of large cream content. It is correct to say more for milk of higher quality as evidenced by the sale of milk from all credited pure bred herds.

A few farmers find good profit from selling sweet cream and the better their herds, the better the price.

Advantages of Combining

The predominance of a certain breed in a county has its advantages. A market will be established, which because of the availability of large number of animals from a distance. They generally buy in large consignments. Under such circumstances all surplus stock can be disposed of to a better advantage. Any co-operative marketing also may be used effectively.

Also the dairymen are beginning to realize the point of having tested cattle.

Every accredited herd and adherence to laws relating to clean milk, mean just that much more confidence by the buying public in the milk and milk products.

Roosevelt Estate Sued for $69,900 by Woman

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Hillsdale, Ind.—Mrs. Emma Richardson Burkett, who has filed a claim for $69,900 against the Theodore Roosevelt estate Thursday related as much as she cared to reveal of the strange story of an estate inherited and loaned out during the republican convention in June, 1912.

The alleged note, bearing Roosevelt's signature, and the will by which she came into possession of the money were in the Chemical National bank in New York, she said.

Her story came after she had been told attorneys for the estate characterized the former president's signature to the alleged note a forgery. According to Mrs. Burkett she resided at Danville, Ill., when an alleged loan was made June 21, 1912.

An uncle, Henry Richardson, a miner, had left her providing that Mrs. Burkett should take charge of his money, $69,900, and turn over the interest to Mary Kennedy, his daughter.

She said she received word from a friend that an investment for the money had been arranged in Chicago, where she was taken to an office and met President Roosevelt and a man named Saunson, both of whom signed the note. Saunson, she avers, had her interest on the alleged loan until 1917, when she says he went to France.

She also remarked she expected soon a message to go to Cincinnati to see Mrs. Alice Longworth, the former president's daughter, but would not reveal the purpose of the contemplated trip.

"I've offered to compromise this thing," she said. "At first I wanted the principal and the interest for four years but now I merely want the money back that is rightly mine."

She asserted the former president had told her to make no publicity about the matter.

The gold dust is found in the gravel dug from the bed of the Arroyo Seco and for years has been left with the crushed gravel to be used in road construction.

Rollins discovered the "pay streak" when he entered the company's employ several months ago.

Hard Times Hit Semi-Pro Clubs

Hard times are hitting the clubs of the Heding Lake Shore baseball circuit. A meeting of the managers decided to put on a series of booster games on July 4 in an endeavor to get the teams out of slight financial straits. High salaries to players and increased traveling expenses have cut the bankrolls.

According to President Hedding the weak clubs must be bolstered or the schedule will have to be abandoned. Members of the clubs have offered their services free for these independence day games.

Booster Game Hired

The same situation is striking other clubs, including the Janesville Tractors who are putting on a big booster game here next Wednesday. The old central league was abandoned early in the season for the same reason. The White-water Quakers were taken over in part by Fort Atkinson to make the financial burden easier.

Semi-pro clubs in Chicago are seeking to overcome the same situation by staging twilight ball. Beloit is planning to play a few games with the Tractors and anticipates a heavy debt at the close of the season.

DODGE IS KNOCKED OFF MOUND IN 7TH; 3,000 WATCH GAME

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Portage, Wis., June 24.—The Janesville Tractors' Red Sox were not so lucky Thursday afternoon at about 5:30 as they were a couple of hours previously. The reason:

"Smiling Bill" Lathrop, ace of all semi-pro pitchers of the central west, had just finished applying a heavy, thick coat of calamine. While he worked, he whistled a tune of 14 to 0. Lathrop used a beautiful shine ball that whizzed and curved all around the Cream City bats. Result, he pitched a one-hit, no-run game.

Wicket Goes In.

Jimmy Dodge fared not at all well before the attacks of the Tractors. He received one of the hardest drubbings of his career, his offerings being received off the ends of the bats of the Janesville outfit like a rain of chine-gun bullets. After 14 bingles, Stump gave Dodge the high-sign and Jimmy crawled onto the bench in the seventh in favor of Wright.

Mr. Goodman lived up to his name in confusion by getting the only hit off Lathrop.

There were 3,000 fans out to watch the game. The contest was a feature of the Elks' initiation of the class of 75, Janesville Tractors.

KERR PUZZLES INDIANS; CUBS CLEAN REDLEGS; MILLERS TOP LADDER

Nine Home Runs Thursday

Keir got his fourth consecutive victory when he shut out the Champion Indians, 6 to 0, and gave them only four hits to boot. In the pinches Woe Dickey was supreme. Keir's record continues 15 days ahead of his record of last year by knocking out No. 25 with one on. It was the longest drive ever made in Boston and Ruth's 12th.

The Yankees won 6-1.

Gathering 10 hits on three innings, Philadelphia won from the Senators, 5-3, and took the deciding game of the series.

Four singles by the Browns in the 12th gave St. Louis a 5-4 win from Detroit. Home runs were made by Collins and Williams.

National League.

Making a total of 15 punches, the Cubs defeated Cincinnati, 6-3. Chicago landed heavily upon Rube Marquard.

St. Louis discovered Thursday that its team is still in the league when it saw the Cards defeat the Pirates 8 to 2 in 12 innings and 4 to 3. McHenry got a home run in the first and Max Baer in the second. Umpire Emile was injured by a pitched ball.

The Giants took the last of the series by turning the tables on the Braves, 6 to 4. Gibson and Frisch made circuits clouts.

Brooklyn made it three straight from the Phillies winning Thursday, 6 to 4. Ausley was hit hard and receiving poor support. Griffith and Johnson made home runs.

American Association.

Overconfidence or something like that has hit the Brewers on the head just as they were going on a strong winning streak. They dropped two more Thursday to Joe Cantillon's Millers, 9-3 and 8-6. The former Janesville man's team now sits into first place.

Puzzling Toledo until the ninth and then letting down with his mates owing the game, John Paul Jones won for Indianapolis, 5-3. Coming from back of Columbus in the seventh, Louisville took four out of five of the series by winning Thursday, 6-4.

Manhasset, N. Y. — Omens of luck have been seen in strange things appearing in the camp of Georges Carpentier.

A white horse with a star on its forehead strayed from a nearby farm and found its way into the Carpentier barn. A youthful admirer of the challenger informed him that the coming of the animal boded good fortune. The horse got some oats and was sent home.

The next good sign came in the form of a black cat. It appeared at the front gate late Thursday while Carpentier was standing there. It jumped to the fence post, arched its back against the Frenchman's hand and purred. "It's good luck," exclaimed the boy in the road.

SOVIET FLIRTING WITH NEAR EAST

Lenine Pushing Friendship With Turks, Persians and Other Delegations.

Istan, Latvia—Recent arrivals from Moscow declare the world little realizes how closely Soviet Russia is pushing its friendship with the Near East.

In Moscow the Turkish legation occupies one of the most palatial of the old palaces and the personnel, garbed in faultless European clothes, presents a strange contrast to the poorly garbed Muscovites. The legation and other Near Eastern delegations also occupy luxurious quarters, give elaborate banquets and otherwise carry on with all the pomp of the old Eastern courts.

Members of Lenine's government are frequently guests at these affairs and entertain the legation personnel equally lavishly in return.

Besides this, Lenine has so accommodated himself to the psychology of the East that he now changes presents with the rulers of Turkey, Persia, etc., as did the rulers of ancient days.

A Moscow dispatch reads like a paragraph from what might have been an ancient tablet of hieroglyphs, describing the visit of a Babylonian envoy to King Cyrus of Persia. It says:

"The representative of the government has made his first official visit to the Shah of Persia, and has been to the Shah on a golden salver an album with photographs of Soviet leaders of the whole of Russia as a personal present to the Shah from Lenine."

SOLDIER BONUS IS IN SENATE MONDAY

Fight on the Bill is a Hard One and Backed by Many Interests.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Washington—That the soldier bonus bill will have a hard battle to become a law is the general opinion in the capitol. Powerful influences are against it, representing several thousand men who are not at all anxious to have the added amount of taxation necessary if the bill passes. But on the other hand there is also a matter which cannot be measured in dollars and cents—the obligation, not only implied but actually expressed and reiterated when the war was on—that the man who enlisted or was drafted would not be more than was actually paid him in dollars and cents as his soldier's wage. The bill is on the senate calendar for Monday, June 20.

Total Cost of Bonus
A cost table prepared by the subcommittee shows that if every veteran should accept the cash bonus plan the total cost would be $1,560,106,330, of which $150,571,800 could be appropriated in 1922, $225,856,529 in 1923, and $276,307,999 in 1924.

If the certificate plan for which the bill provides should be accepted by every veteran the total cost to the government between 1922 and 1943 inclusive would be $5,273,245,562.

Under the cash plan or the insurance plan, for which the bill provides, no payment would begin until after July 1, 1922. The bill is called "the veterans' adjusted compensation bill," and the subcommittee points out that it provides for five different plans for adjusted compensation, explains the measure as follows:

Deducts Fixed Extra Pay
"By act of congress at the time of the discharge of our soldiers they were given two months' extra pay, or $50 each. Therefore, in the bill which passed the house in May, 1920, as in this bill, 60 days are deducted from the service of each soldier and sailor at home or abroad. If he had such service both at home and abroad the sixty days are first deducted from his home service.

"The bill then gives $1 a day for each day's service in the United States and $1.25 a day for each day's service overseas, exclusive of the said 60 days. This is the cash plan provided in Title 2 and is called 'adjusted service pay.' The cash payment, if $500 or over, is to be made in 10 quarterly installments of $50 each.

Service Certificate
"Title 3, 'Adjusted Service Certificate,' gives the veterans the option to take insurance payable at the end of 20 years. If he chooses this insurance plan he will receive as the basis of his adjusted pay a sum 40 per cent greater than the cash plan and this sum will bear interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent per annum, compounded annually. In the event of his death prior to 20 years his estate will receive the amount of such adjusted pay and interest compounded annually for 20 years.

Can Borrow Against Insurance
"The veteran can borrow against this insurance. If the loan is made between July 1, 1921, and July 1, 1927, he can borrow 90 per cent of his adjusted service certificate, with 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded annually, up to the date of the borrowing; if made after July 1, 1927, he can borrow 80 per cent of the amount of the adjusted service certificate, with 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded annually. On these borrowings he will pay 4 1/2 per cent interest, the same as he is allowed on his adjusted service certificate.

Farm and Home Aid
"Title 5, 'Farm or home aid,' authorizes the veteran to receive from the government the adjusted service pay plus an additional 40 per cent to be applied toward the purchase price of such home or farm.

"Title 6, 'The land settlement aid,' gives the veteran preference right to take lands on the opening of public or Indian lands to entry or the restoration to entry of public lands and on all reclamation projects now in existence or hereafter established, whether such reclamation is made by irrigation, drainage or otherwise.

"The veteran at his option may select any one of these five plans.

Senator Fenrose announced a subcommittee consisting of Smart, Utah; Watson, Indiana and Reed, Missouri, to consider the Sweet bill passed by the house to consolidate government agencies dealing with former service men. This committee will give particular attention to the public health service, he said.

NEW PORTO RICO BOSS FACES TASK

Island Legislature Fails to Pass Budget and Tax Measures.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
San Juan, P. R.—When J. Mont Rely, Kansas City, recently appointed Governor of Porto Rico by President Harding, arrives here to take up his official duties, probably in July, he will find an interesting political situation brought about by the fact that the legislature, which was in session at the time of the announcement of his appointment, immediately took a recess without passing the government budget for 1921, which commenced work on bills which were under consideration and which are considered necessary to produce revenue for the insular government.
The legislature is in control of the insular party, and Antonio R. Barcelo, president of that party, the governor has received a letter from Governor Rely requesting that the legislature complete its work as quickly as possible and adjourn. There is no indication that this request, the first of the new governor, will be complied with.
Although the budget for the next two years has not been passed, this does not seem to worry the legislature. If there is no new budget at the end of June the budget now in force will be continued for another year. The present budget calls for an annual expenditure of approximately $8,000,000.
The income tax law, which has been in operation for the last two years, expires on July 1, unless a new income tax law is passed or the present law is re-enacted, and there will be no income tax for 1920, unquestionably the most prosperous year in the history of the island.
The unionist leaders are far more concerned regarding the attitude of the new governor on appointments in the departments than they are with legislation.

Demonstrations Show Advantages of Liming Soils in Rock County

Liming demonstration meeting on the farm of Orrie Steele, Griff Richards, soils expert from the College of Agriculture is speaking on the value of pulverized lime to soils. More than 500 farmers have seen this field during the series of demonstrations which have been held at the Steele farm.

Demonstrations held in Rock county have shown the farmers the profit and value to be obtained from use of lime on soils growing alfalfa and fertilizing concentrates.
Increased acreage in alfalfa is being obtained in this county, which is declared to be possible, with increased use of lime.
The accompanying photograph was taken on the farm of Orrie Steele, near Evansville, where a test was made this spring. Hundreds of farmers have seen this field and lectures have been held to indicate the applications of lime.
Grow More Alfalfa
A strip was left across the field which was not limed. As a direct comparison to the heavy stand on the rest of the field, there was no crop at all on the unlimed strip. So poor was the growth the owner sowed oats.
Increased acreage in alfalfa is being planned by the producers for next year.

FORMER YARDMASTER HERE RUNS 600-ACRE FARM AT DURAND, ILL.

Five years ago L. H. Martens was yardmaster in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad yards in Janesville.
He had been a "rail" for a number of years, a yardmaster, railroad builder and operating official. It is seldom that once a man is interested in railroad work that he changes.
But Martens went farming, a strange occupation for a yardmaster. He now runs 600 acres of land near Durand, Ill. and has one of the largest land holdings in that district. He has four adjoining farms all under intense cultivation, with a herd of 100 cows.
Janesville has produced many railroad men—more probably than any other city of corresponding size in the United States," said Martens. "I often marvel about the Canillians. Every one of them became famous and wealthy. I am satisfied with farming but at the same time high-grade my railroad experience in Janesville.

Girl Appointed Ranger in Yellowstone Park

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Bozeman, Mont.—Miss Marguerite Lindsey, a junior in Montana State college here, is the first woman ever to be named a ranger in Yellowstone National park. News of her appointment has been received.
Miss Lindsey is anticipating no difficulty in pointing out to tourists the beauties of the wonders of the government playground, however, for the geysers and the hot springs are as familiar to her as drinking fountains and fire plugs are to many a city dweller. She is on terms of acquaintance with most of the birds and the beasts, and knows every hill and valley in the big reserve.
The new ranger's father, C. A. Lindsey, is assistant superintendent of the park and has been connected with the government service there for 24 years. Miss Lindsey has spent every summer of her life in the park.

Need of Spraying

Government figures show that Wisconsin's apple crop is worth saving. Orchard diseases have raised havoc with the crop in a 10 year period. Consequently the importance of spraying and treatment to save the trees.

In 1910 Wisconsin produced 2,222,112 bushels of apples as compared to 303,884 in 1920. Notwithstanding the drop in the number of bushels the state had 2,430,232 trees in 1910 and in 1920 had 2,321,860 trees. The state now gets less than a bushel to a tree.

The drop in bushels is accountable by the failure of orchard owners to care for them. Interest is being revived by demonstrations in spraying and treatment and pruning. Instead of having barren trees the orchard owners are bringing their trees back to productivity.

HARD COAL COSTS MORE JULY 1

A new law of the State of Pennsylvania goes into effect July 1. It places a tax on every ton of coal leaving the state. All anthracite comes from Pennsylvania. We have to pay that tax.

This law is believed unconstitutional. But until so declared, the tax must be paid—and there is no refund. This is something beyond the power of the coal dealer—and the public pays the bill as usual.

Retail prices will advance 10c per ton July 1.

NOTE—COAL ORDERED AND PAID FOR IN JUNE WILL BE DELIVERED ANY TIME ON YOUR ORDER AT THE JUNE PRICE. DON'T DELAY. ORDER TODAY.
